

SERVICES OVERVIEW

SEARCH DIVISION

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

With rapid changes in technology and IT-related unemployment near all-time record lows, companies today are finding it increasingly more challenging to attract and retain highly skilled IT professionals to design, implement, manage and safeguard their systems from cyber threats.

In response to this demand, our highly tenured team at StevenDouglas brings an average of 19 years of IT recruiting experience, helping our clients navigate this rapidly changing job market and delivering top IT talent. Our Information Technology team's discipline specialization and vast network of IT relationships allow them to be efficient and effective, all while delivering exceptional customer service. These services can be delivered either through a retained search approach at the executive level or through our contingency search practice for professional staff to middle management.
